OK-LA is pleased to welcome Sam Nelson to our stellar faculty!

Sam Nelson is a versatile dancer and choreographer originally from Austin, Texas who is trained in all styles of dance with a strong focus on Contemporary and Lyrical. He was a featured contestant on So You Think You Can Dance Season 16 and finished in the Top 15 Guys on the hit TV show. Sam has worked for artists Tame Impala, JP Saxe, Leroy Sanchez, Clinton Kane, Blake McGrath, and Nia Sioux. As a Company Member with Embodiment the Collective, Sam has performed at NBC's World of Dance Championships, the Primetime Emmys, and Creative Arts Emmys. His choreography can be seen on America's Got Talent, SYTYCD, and in numerous music videos. Some of Sam's additional credits include Adidas, Ivy Park, Vidcon, Six Flags, and Amazon Prime TV.

Sam's dance ability has won him numerous scholarships including Julliard, Marymount Manhattan and the University of Arizona. What makes Sam unique is his amazing personality, and his ability to teach his unique, intricate style and help dancers to master his versatile, incredible dance style. Don't miss this opportunity!
